Dear Dan:

Attached is a summary showing costs plus estimates to complete versus funding by system and by customer as of 1 January 1959. It is apparent that when the funds for System 4 flight and environmental testing, and for the rework of System 4, Serial 102 have been transferred from A102 as we have discussed, no additional funding will be required. In fact, should our current estimates underrun. remain constant, there will be a

The work yet to be accomplished is substantially as follows:

Customer A has the completion of System 4 Serial 102 rework and some System 4 spares; a relatively small amount of Data Reduction Equipment and spares, and a nominal amount of Field Engineering Support in the form of training aids and service bulletins.

Customer B has some tape transport modification kits shown under System 1, the completion of his last order of System 3's together with System 3 Spares, and a nominal amount of Data Reduction Equipment.

Customer C has some combined System 1 and 3 Spares which are shown under System 1; some System 3 Drawings; System 4 Spares and testing of Serial #107; Data Reduction Equipment and Spares; and under "Support" he has the remainder of his training aids and field service bulletins, and his factory bonded spares.
